Key:

- Node: A node represents a concept or entity. Nodes are color-coded by region: England (red), Northern Irish (purple), Scottish (orange), and Welsh (green).
- Line: A line represents a relationship between two nodes. Lines are color-coded by region: England (red), Northern Irish (purple), Scottish (orange), and Welsh (green).
- Arrow: An arrow represents a directional relationship between two nodes. Arrows are color-coded by region: England (red), Northern Irish (purple), Scottish (orange), and Welsh (green).
- Color: The color of a node or line indicates the region it belongs to. England is red, Northern Irish is purple, Scottish is orange, and Welsh is green.
- Shape: The shape of a node indicates its type. Rectangles represent concepts, circles represent individuals, and diamonds represent organizations.
- Size: The size of a node indicates its importance or frequency. Larger nodes are more important or frequent.
- Text: The text on a node indicates its name and any associated information.
- Background: The background of the diagram is a light gray and white checkerboard pattern.
